Elder LeGrand Richards, a member of the Council of Twelve and the oldest general authority of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, died Tuesday morning in Salt Lake City at the age of 96. Elder LeGrand's funeral will be Friday at noon in the Tabernacle in Salt Lake City.

Don LeFevre, a spokesman for the LDS Church, said Elder Richards died of causes incident to age at 10:40 a.m. at the home of his daughter, Nona Dyer.

Elder Richards served for more than 60 years as an official of the LDS Church. He was called to the Council of Twelve in April 1952. Before that, he served as the presiding bishop of the LDS Church for 14 years.

Elder Richards suffered heart attacks in 1942 and 1964 and walked with a limp most of his life because of a hip-bone disease suffered when he was eight.

On July 3, 1982, he had one of his legs surgically amputated because of circulation problems.

Elder Richards' health had been failing for several months, LeFevre said. "We received word last week that he had taken a turn for the worse, but then he rallied again on Friday," he said. His health declined again, and the office received word of his death Tuesday morning.

BYU President Jeffrey R. Holland expressed the sadness felt by the BYU community when the news of Elder Richards' death was released.

"Brigham Young University joins with Latter-day Saints around the world in extending its sympathy and love to the family of Elder LeGrand Richards at this time of his passing. No church leader was more beloved by our faculty, staff and students at BYU over the more than 40 years that he visited our campus. He was a member of our Board of Trustees from 1962 to 1975.

"None could have asked him to stay with us longer than his 96 years, but his powerful voice and twinkling eye will be sorely missed."

— Pres. Holland

"None could have asked him to stay with us longer than his 96 years, but his powerful voice and twinkling eye will be sorely missed. We mourn his passing and feel a personal sense of loss. His love for the gospel and his determination to declare it will be an example to us forever."

BYU students expressed their love and concern for Elder Richards in September 1982 when a large get-well card was hung in the Cougararet and signed by many of them.

In a letter dated Oct. 27, 1982, Elder Richards responded to the card. "... I would like to talk to the hundreds of students who signed their names and their sweet messages before the banners were delivered at my office," he wrote. "I will carry that love deep in my heart into the eternal worlds, where I expect to be going before very long."

Utah Gov. Scott Matheson praised Elder Richards Tuesday as "a monumental figure in the LDS Church and a vibrant force for good in this world. His powerful voice may be still, but his message will never be forgotten."

Elder Richards attributed his long life to clean living and faithful adherence to LDS Church precepts to avoid caffeine and tobacco.

"I've tried to live right," he once said. "I've kept the Word of Wisdom all my life."

Elder Richards was well-known among the five million Latter-day Saints for his Elder Richards sermons during church conferences. Unlike other LDS Church leaders, Elder Richards shunned prepared texts.

Instead, he spoke off-the-cuff for his allotted time, then would often make jokes about having to halt his remarks.

Elder Richards was the author of a number of collections of stories and several books, most notably "A Marvelous Work and a Wonder," a publication widely read by the LDS community.

The book, which grew out of a guide Elder Richards wrote for LDS Church missionaries, was praised by leaders of the LDS Church for bringing many converts to the church. Elder Richards considered it his crowning achievement in a life devoted to missionary labors.

Elder Richards was born Feb. 6, 1886 in Farmington, Utah, to George Franklin and Alice Almira Robinson Richards. He grew up on a farm in Tooele, Utah, and attended business school in Salt Lake City after graduation from high school.

Both his father and grandfather were presidents of the Council of Twelve, and his uncle, Willard Richards, was a member of the Council of Twelve and a counselor to Brigham Young, former president of the LDS Church.

Elder Richards married Ina Jane Ashton on May 19, 1909. They were parents of six children. Mrs. Richards died in 1977.

In addition to his service as a general authority, Elder Richards filled four missions, including two as mission president, was bishop of three wards, served on two high councils and was a stake president.

Elder Richards is survived by seven brothers and sisters, four daughters and two sons, 28 grandchildren, 115 great-grandchildren and nine great-great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Friday at noon in the Salt Lake Tabernacle.

Weinberger supports $11 billion defense cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Alexander Weinberger surprisingly recommended on Monday an $11.8 billion cut in proposed military authority next year, a step that he and President Reagan once resisted tooth and nail. But he declared: "I'm pleased ... Cap did it." Weinberger credited the prospective scaledown Reagan's "effective ... anti-inflationary campaign."

appeared Weinberger had yielded to budget for David Stockman, other White House economic advisers, and senior congressional Republicans had been pressing for significant trim of the defense buildup so stoutly embraced by Reagan and his Pentagon chief.

It was the first time in memory any Defense Secretary made public his budget recommendations before the president sent his overall federal budget to Congress. Reagan's budget for fiscal 1984, which is next Oct. 1, is expected to reach Congress in March.

Weinberger said actual spending in fiscal 1984, his revised proposal, would be about $8 billion less than had been projected. That would place the fiscal 1984 spending figure at about $239 billion, or some $30.2 billion more than this year.

Stockman had been pushing for cuts in precisely the same ball park — $11 to $12 billion for fiscal 1984 — as part of his quest to narrow what otherwise looms as a deficit approaching $200 billion.

Most of the rollback, Weinberger said, is attributable to lower fuel costs and prices for many other items as a result of "sharply lower inflation rates."

The rest, he added, would be reached by some unspecified personnel cost savings, postponement of some military construction in the United States, such as housing, and some other expenses, including training costs.

In Dallas, Reagan said the new cuts would not set back "in any substantial way our defense program. That still remains a top priority — the security of our people."

He said the cuts are not "a ploy" and were not "intended to persuade Congress." "But any further cuts imposed by Congress, he warned, "would be endangering the security of our country."

umors fly, but Journey concert unconfirmed

umors that the rock band, Journey, is coming to Utah were not confirmed by ASBYU Social Vice President Kris Carter Tuesday.

McCoys, disc jockey and music director for a radio station, announced twice that Journey was coming to the area, once during his Monday noon shift and once Tuesday.

McCoys said that he received his information from a contact at Columbia Records in Los Angeles.

concerts at BYU are scheduled by Marriott Center Special Events Director, Scott Williams. Carad Williams has been out of town for four days, then contacted Tuesday, Victor Stone, a spokesman for Columbia Records Publicity Department, said his department does not have a schedule for any possible Journey tour because the dates have not been booked.

"I am not denying anything that anyone said," Stone said. "We're Publicity. We can't publicize anything that we don't know."

McCoys said he did not announce anything. "All I said is that Journey is coming," he said. "I didn't say where or when or anything."

According to McCoys, his contact from the record company said the group was scheduled to for two dates in Utah, one in Salt Lake and one in Provo, sometime in March.

ension eased, gov't says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Administration told the Supreme Court on Tuesday that most on plans illegally discriminate against women by paying them lower wages than men because they live off their husbands.

Justice General Rex Lee told the court in a brief that Title VII of the Civil Rights Act prohibits the use of sex-based criteria in calculating benefits on marital status showing the different expectations of men and women couples.

A Justice Department's came in a case involving pension plans used by 3,400 colleges for 650,000 employees, but the raised could affect millions of union workers and billions of dollars in pensions.

He noted that in 1978 the Supreme Court ruled against a retirement plan required women to make larger contributions than similarly situated men.

Whether a woman contributes a certain amount of her compensation to a man for an equal benefit or receives an equal amount for a less benefit, the use of sex-based criteria in calculating periodic results in the same discrimination, Lee said.

ension plan operators have said that the life expectancy tables used in a fair system because men as a group paid the same benefits as women as a group. Thus, although monthly benefit is smaller, their benefit is about the same when averaged on a group basis.

Basketball ticket allotment fares well with WAA schools

Editor's note: The following is the final part in a three-part series dealing with basketball ticket sales and distribution at BYU.

By ROBES PATTON

BYU basketball may not be making tidal waves on the national front, but for the past several seasons, the Cougars have consistently challenged for the Western Athletic Conference title.

And while the student-ticket allotment in the Marriott Center seems to lack weekly upon the shore of the national powers, its undertow pulls equally if not stronger than the WAC counterparts.

At Utah, students pay $1 and sit in 33 percent of the Marriott Center. The distribution is broken down into several rotating sections and student enthusiasm generally runs high.

At Utah, which is basically a commuter school, the Special Events Center (cap. 15,000) has a student section of 4,000. That translates into 26 percent of the arena, but only 18 percent of the student body.

These figures, in comparison to BYU, tend to be misleading because the Marriott Center is one of the largest arenas in the nation, and Provo enrollment hovers around 26,000.

Student apathy This season at BYU a touch of student apathy surfaced when extra student tickets were put on sale for the first half of the season. Six hundred were left waiting.

The tickets were behind the baskets in the upper sections of the Marriott Center, which isn't exactly the celestial kingdom.

But BYU isn't the only WAC team with tinges of hoop apathy.

At New Mexico's University Arena (cap. 17,121), the students sit in the lower section of the west side of the arena. The enrollment in Albuquerque is 22,000, but only 3,600 seats are allotted to students.

Full-time students are admitted free with an I.D. card, and can pay $5 for a guest ticket, according to Alice Allison, ticket manager.

The Lobos were on the verge of national-power status during the late 70s with Marvin Johnson and Michael Cooper, now of the Los Angeles Lakers, before the roof caved in with NCAA violations.

Even during those glory years, the interest at UNM was limited.

Tickets not used They (the students) haven't used all their tickets in several years," said Allison.

"Fifteen years ago, they used to take them all and we had to use a lottery system. But for the past 10 years, they haven't used them all ... even though we've had some pretty good teams."

In El Paso, the UTEP students are allotted 3,050 seats in the 12,200 seat Special Events Center. The students sit in both price areas so they "can buy guest tickets in either area," according to Marjorie Williamsen, UTEP ticket manager.

Minor students receive one free ticket with their I.D. and have an option to buy as many guest tickets as they want.

At the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, a student, or cadet, section is not actually set aside.

"We don't make a conscious effort to sit them in a group," said ticket manager Walt Grinewich. The students can show up in uniform or with an I.D. card up until five minutes before the game and can sit anywhere.

At the outset of the football season, Academy students pay a fee of about $45, which covers hockey, football and basketball.

San Diego Aztecs

San Diego State is the Southern California commuter school of the conference and of its 31,500 students, 7,500 are allotted seats in the San Diego Sports Arena (cap. 13,000) for Aztec home games.

Aztec tickets prices are covered by student fees and must be picked up in advance. All the midcourt seats in the arena are for the public, however, and the students sit around one corner of the court.

Each school in the NCAA must maintain the delicate balance between satisfying the students and the public, as well as make money, and BYU is not an exception.

"Athletics has to pay its way, but it's also an activity for the students, said BYU Athletic Director Glen Tuckett. "If we ever get to the point when that's not the case then I think we would have trouble with our conscience."

"I think the school is obligated to allot tickets to the students, but I think the students are obligated to use them," he added.

"It's like they say in the army, 'Take what you eat, but eat what you take.'" ment rose to the highest level in 40 years and my economic advisers projected that we could expect only another recovery."

The only "bright spot" in Matheson's interpretation of the situation stemmed from a study that found contributions to LDS Church precepts to avoid caffeine and tobacco.

Matheson said if contributions to the retirement fund are not reduced, the state will be $26.5 million short of balancing the budget.

Money is needed, Matheson said, to help the state deal with the problems of increased enrollment growth in education and the funding of the previously approved prison expansion.

The governor said he has always supported a "sound benefit package for state employees" and acknowledged that workloads for public employees in many programs are "entirely unrealistic," but still suggested those extra funds be used to balance the budget.

The state's chief executive was quick to point out that the move would not reduce retirement benefits or diminish the amount of money available to public employees upon withdrawal from the system.

Matheson apologized for a budget that would not include salary increases for public employees or increases in operating budgets. Matheson is required by law to submit a balanced budget.

If the legislature would adopt the governor's "auxiliary budget," however, Matheson explained, a 3 percent salary package increase, and other programs, could be funded.

"The tax increases I am recommending are selective and equitable," Matheson said. "They include changes in property taxes, severance taxes on oil and gas, the oil depletion allowance and corporate franchise taxes."

Two or three weeks, if all goes well

Clark to leave hospital soon

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Barney Clark could be released from the hospital in "two to three weeks" if world's first recipient of a permanent artificial heart continues his present rate of recovery, one of his doctors said Tuesday.

Doctors also said Clark is using an aluminum "walker" to aid him in taking steps and said his condition may soon be upgraded from serious to good.

"He has clearly improved during the last two weeks," said Dr. Chase Peterson, University of Utah vice president for health sciences, who spoke at the first formal briefing on Clark's condition since Dec. 27.

"Doctor Clark is more lucid than he has been, significantly so. He's physically stronger and his lung function is better. His heart continues to perform normally," Peterson said.

Dr. Lyle Joyce, one of the attending physicians, was asked how soon Clark might be allowed to leave the University of Utah Medical Center, where he has been since before the polyurethane heart was implanted Dec. 2.

Assuming all goes well, Joyce said, "I think we're probably still talking two to three weeks at least."

Joyce said Clark would have to regain enough strength to be able to wheel his 375-pound heart-drive unit, consisting of air hoses and a compressor, before he could be discharged.

"That will be based on his physical capabilities. . . this is a new area for us and a new area for him," Joyce said.

Clark will live for a time in a home in Salt Lake City after his release so doctors can closely monitor his progress.

The 61-year-old retired dentist from suburban Seattle was in his 41st day Tuesday with the Jarvik-7 heart.

Upgrading of Clark's condition from serious to good "could be expected soon," Peterson added, but he would not be more specific.

Joyce said doctors finally have ruled out the possibility that Clark suffered brain damage from a series of seizures Dec. 7 which left him semi-conscious for days and later disoriented.

Washington nuclear initiative struck down in federal court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Washington state initiative requiring voter approval before bond money can be spent on three nuclear power plants is unconstitutional, a federal appeals court ruled today.

The Ninth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals struck down the initiative, approved by voters in November 1981.

The decision upheld a ruling by U.S. District Judge Jack Tanner in Tacoma, who held that Initiative 394 was unconstitutional because of existing contracts to finance and complete three power plants already under construction by the Washington Public Power Supply System. They are projects 1, 2 and 3.

Steve Zemke, chairman of Don't Bankrupt Washington, which proposed the initiative, said the decision means "people can make blunders and mistakes and squander the public's money and the public can't control it."

Zemke said the decision applies only to projects now under construction and voters will have a say in future power projects.

John Britton, a spokesman for an organization that opposed the initiative, said it was unfortunate Northwest ratepayers financed legal fees to find out the initiative was unconstitutional.

"It makes the supply system's job much easier. It means we can finance our projects without having the initiative hanging over our heads," Britton said. "It means we won't have to spend another $1.5 million of ratepayers' money to finance an election."

The law went into effect last July. It was challenged by Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago; Morgan Guarantee Trust Co. of New York and Seattle, trustees for bond issues used to finance construction of the plants; and WPPSS, a consortium of utilities building the plants.

Washington voters' approval of the initiative reflected public frustration over rising costs of the WPPSS plants, delays in construction, and general mismanagement.

A decision whether to appeal will be made after Don't Bankrupt Washington officials meet with their lawyer, Zemke said.

"The ruling was not in the public interest. I think it rules against the concept of public control of public projects," he said.

The initiative was being challenged by the U.S. Department of Justice, acting on behalf of the Bonneville Power Administration. Bonneville is underwriting three of WPPSS' nuclear plants.

A year ago, WPPSS had five nuclear power plants under construction in Washington, but events have narrowed the actual scope of Initiative 394's impact to one plant.

Plants Nos. 4 and 5 were terminated in January. No. 2 will probably be financed to completion in late 1983 by the Bonneville Power Administration if bond financing is not available through WPPSS. No. 1 has been mothballed for as long as five years.

Deputy U.S. Attorney General Richard Willard told the court the initiative would wipe out some of the contract guarantees made to the federal Bonneville Power Administration, which has guaranteed to repay $6.1 billion in bonds.

Utah gets first test-tube baby

BOUNTIFUL, Utah (AP) — A healthy, 7-pound, 9-ounce boy born to a Centerville couple Tuesday is the first "test-tube" baby to be born in Utah.

The child, son of Claudia and Steven Allen, was born at Lakeview Hospital at 8:08 a.m., said hospital spokeswoman Gay Saunders. The as-yet unnamed boy is the 14th test-tube baby born in the United States.

Among the child's admirers Tuesday was his grandfather, State Sen. Jack Bangert, R-Bountiful, who took a day off from the Utah legislative session to be at the hospital when the baby was born.

"It's a miracle!" Bangert said. "No matter what they call him, he's Immanuel (a miraculous child) to me."

The red-haired boy is the 19th grandchild for the Bangerters.

Saunders said the Allens had participated in the in vitro fertilization and implantation program of the Eastern Virginia Medical School at Norfolk General Hospital, Norfolk, Va. The Allen baby is the 11th child conceived in the program that began in 1980.

The first child born in the program was Elizabeth Carr of Westminster, Mass., who recently celebrated her first birthday.

Hours after his birth, the Allen child was posing with his father, who talked with reporters. "He'll definitely be a basketball player," said Allen, looking at the long, slender fingers of his son.

The child was 20½ inches long at birth.

The delivery was by Caesarean section performed by Bountiful obstetrician S. Ray Sumson. Both Sumson and pediatrician Randy Reese said the mother and child were doing well.

In the in vitro process, mature eggs are removed from a woman's ovary and fertilized with her husband's sperm in a laboratory dish. The eggs are then transferred to the woman's uterus, where normal pregnancy takes place.

The University of Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City is beginning its own in vitro fertilization program. Center spokesman Mark Sands said couples are now being screened for the program and it is possible that the first attempts at fertilization may occur in one or two months.

State NOW president charged with murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The state president of the National Organization for Women was arrested Tuesday on a warrant charging her with murdering a man with a tire iron in Louisiana 18 years ago.

Cmdr. William Booth said Ginny Eleanor Post, 42, was arrested shortly after 8 a.m. in Burbank, Calif.

A woman who answered the telephone at NOW's office in West Los Angeles confirmed that Post was the organization's state president.

Flea Market' lectures devoted to Nobelists

The January "Flea Market of Ideas" lectures will be devoted to a review of the work of the Nobel Peace Prize winners, in fields ranging from literature to chemistry. The series of lectures will begin Thursday at 9 in 321 ELWC. BYU faculty members from other disciplines will discuss the various topics. The "Flea Market" lectures are sponsored by the academic year by the BYU Program and ASBYU Academics Office. Roy Gunnell, administrative assistant to the University Honors, said the Thursday lecture will take a general, rather than highly technical view of the award recipients' work. The 9 a.m. lecture, "The Nuclear Delusion," will deal with the work of recipients of the Nobel Peace Prize, Alva Myrdal of Sweden and Alfonso Garcia es of Mexico. Also, a layman's introduction to the dangers of nuclear arms proliferation and arguments in favor of involvement in the disarmament movement will be offered.

The lecturer will be Dr. Gary L. Browning, dean of University Honors and an associate professor of Germanic and Slavic languages.

The next lecture, at 11:10 a.m., is titled, "Gabriel Garcia Marquez: The Lost Art of Storytelling." Columbian writer Garcia Marquez won the Nobel Prize for literature. The lecturer will be Dr. Ted Lyon, professor of Spanish and Portuguese. Dr. Reuben Ward Rhee, an associate professor of zoology, will discuss the work of Sune Bergstrom, Bengt I. Samuelsson and John R. Vane at 12:10 p.m. The lecture is entitled "Discoveries Concerning Prostaglandins and Related Biologically Active Substances."

"By Chance and Necessity" is the title of the lecture on the work of the physics Nobel Prize recipient Kenneth Wilson. BYU physics professor Dr. Dorian M. Hatch will speak at the 1:10 p.m. lecture. "George Tigler and Economic Theory of Regulation" will be the subject of the 2:10 p.m. lecture. Tigler was the recipient of the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Science. The lecturer will be Dr. Richard J. Butler, an assistant professor of economics.

"Photos of the Element of Life" will be the 3:10 p.m. lecture, dealing with the work of the Nobel Prize recipient in chemistry, Aaron Klug, a contributor to the original discovery of the structure of DNA. Dr. Larry V. Knight, an associate professor of physics, will be the lecturer.

SLC man pleads guilty, waives 23 other counts

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A Salt Lake man has pleaded guilty to one count of theft involving property taken from the home of singer Marie Osmond. Sentencing for Paul J. Berriel, 22, was set by 3rd District Judge Palmer F. Wilkinson for Feb. 9.

Berriel agreed to plead guilty to the charge in exchange for dismissal of 23 other counts of theft by receiving, which involved goods taken from a Springfield hardware store.

The guilty plea was accepted during a pretrial conference Thursday. The complaint said Berriel's residence was searched by police and property taken from the Provo home of Marie Osmond and her husband, Steve Craig, was found.

The defendant admitted he knew the property was stolen and that it belonged to Marie Osmond, the complaint said.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Just a quarter a day keeps the boredom away for Bill Mitchell Jr., a 17-year-old video games genius who says he has scored a world record 25 million points on the Centipepe computer game.

"I just play one game all evening," Mitchell said. "I never play a game a lot unless I'm really serious about it. Every time I sit down I'm playing for a world record."

He cracks codes, to the dismay of programmers who then have to devise a new game to keep people from playing all night on a single quarter.

Soviet Moslems force in U.S.S.R., professor claims

By SHERIDAN R. HANSEN
Staff Writer

Perhaps, during the next two decades, Americans may see significant changes in the Soviet Union influenced by the changing ratio of European and Moslem ethnic groups, Dr. David C. Montgomery said at Tuesday's Forum.

At winter semester's opening forum, Montgomery, a professor of history and coordinator of the Near Eastern Studies Program at BYU, spoke about this religious group, using an assortment of slides to support his comments.

46 million
There are more than 46 million people of Moslem heritage in the Soviet Union, making it the sixth largest Moslem state, Montgomery said. With the exception of Turkey, there are more Moslems in the Soviet Union than in any individual Near Eastern state. One out of every six Soviet citizens is of Moslem heritage.

Montgomery recently spent a year among the Uzbek Turks in Soviet Turkistan, just north of the Afghan border.

He said that the Soviet Moslems, for the most part, live in a vast triangular area which has its apex in the north, in the Volga-Ural region, and has its base in the south along the Iran and Afghanistan borders, is growing comparatively quickly and may constitute one-fourth of the Soviet population by the end of the century.

18 percent
Currently 18 percent of the population of the Soviet Union is of Moslem heritage.

"This will place them in a position to play an increased role in the Soviet labor force and the military," the professor said. "These Soviet Moslems live along the sensitive and strategic borders with the Near East and China, having close ethnic ties with related peoples across the frontier. Thus, they will be a factor in internal development and foreign relations."

Demographic projections, Montgomery said, indicate that by the end of this century the Soviet Moslems will constitute at least one-fifth of the population of the Soviet Union, possibly as much as one-fourth.

Montgomery also pointed out that because of the low birth rate among the Russians and other Soviet European ethnic groups, an increasing proportion of the new labor force members and military conscripts (18 year old young men) will come from the Moslem segment of the Soviet population.

Proportion drops
As the proportion of Russians drops, and likely remains, below half of the Soviet population there may be social, cultural and even political changes within the Soviet Union as the Russian ability to determine the course of Soviet life decreases.

"We must seek to gain increased information about the differences which divide people and also information about the 'commonalities' which unite them. With such knowledge perhaps a better world can be constructed," Montgomery said. "This is a major purpose of a university education."

Montgomery has won several fellowships and written numerous articles on the Mongolians and Uzbeks. He is currently writing a dictionary in the Uzbek language.

AP Top Twenty

Memphis St. new No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the third time this season, there's a new No. 1 team in college basketball: Memphis State. The Tigers, No. 2 last week, supplanted Indiana today in the nationwide voting by sports writers and broadcasters after the Hoosiers were upset over the weekend by Ohio State 70-57.

Memphis State received 42 of the 60 first-place ballots and 1,164 points from the voters, who made their selection based on last week's results when the Tigers routed the University of Baltimore 103-57 and St. Louis University 78-64 to improve their record to 11-0. Monday night's 69-56 upset by Virginia Tech was not taken into consideration.

The Tigers held a 54-point margin for first place over Virginia, No. 2 this week with 13 first-place votes and 1,110 points. The Cavaliers, No. 1 until they were upset by tiny Chaminade of Hawaii last month, moved up two spots in this week's voting. Virginia, 11-1, whipped Maryland 83-64 last week.

The highest ranking in the school's history. The New York school was awarded three votes for first place and 1,028 points.

Despite its loss over the weekend, Indiana, 10-1, still received two votes for No. 1. The Hoosiers dropped three places to the No. 4 spot with 994 points.

UCLA, 9-1, moved up a spot to No. 5 after beating Arizona 92-87. Kentucky, 11-2, dropped three places to No. 6 after a 2-1 week, including a 74-67 loss to Alabama. Arkansas, 11-0, was No. 7, jumping up three spots. Nevada-Las Vegas, 12-0, moved up three places to No. 8; Louisville, 11-2, jumped four places to No. 9 and Alabama, 9-2, closed out the Top Ten. North Carolina, 10-3, made the biggest jump of the week by moving up seven places to No. 11. Rounding out the Top Twenty were Iowa, Syracuse, Missouri, Villanova, Houston, Minnesota, Tennessee, North Carolina State and Ohio State.

Dick Vermeil resigns post

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A teary-eyed Dick Vermeil, saying he was "burned out" after seven seasons as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, ended weeks of speculation Monday by resigning.

Leonard Rose, owner of the National Football League franchise, immediately named Eagles' defensive coordinator Marion Campbell, former head coach of the Atlanta Falcons, as Vermeil's replacement. Rose also firmly denied rumors that the club was for sale.

"I'm my own worst enemy," Vermeil, 46, said at a hastily called news conference. "I'm far too intense, far too emotional and I put too much into trying to get things together."

His decision to quit came at the end of a season in which the Eagles, one of the contenders in Super Bowl XV two years ago, compiled a 3-6 record.

Vermeil, standing at the same lectern in the Veterans Stadium press club where he usually sparred with reporters at Monday post-game briefings, appeared pale. Tears glistened in his eyes as his emotions forced him twice to stop while he made his announcement.

"I've made a lot of mistakes and probably the most vivid mistake is I've set a pace for 23 years that it may not be possible to keep through the 10 years of the professional contract," the former UCLA head coach said.

Tech upsets No. 1 Tigers

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS While voters in The Associated Press college basketball poll were moving Memphis State up a notch, the Tigers were being taken down a peg by the Virginia Tech Hokies.

"I give Virginia Tech credit," Memphis State Coach Dana Kirk said after the 69-56 upset Monday night by his team's Metro Conference opponent. "They made things happen tonight at both ends of the floor."

Coach urges look at fouling

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Terry Holland admits he's biased on the subject of Ralph Sampson, but says coaches should take a hard look at what's going on under the backboards.

"Nobody's right or wrong. But there's two sides to the coin," he told a news conference Monday that dealt mostly with foul incidents involving the 7-foot-4 Sampson.

"We're not saying Ralph is right, but he's a human being. Everybody has a boiling point," Holland added.

Sampson reached his boiling point last Saturday night in the drunken Cavaliers' 89-84 Atlantic Coast Conference victory at Maryland. The two-time All-American drew two technical fouls as a result of an elbow-throwing incident.

"I asked him to take a close look and try to determine what to keep it from happening. It's a no-win situation. People used to gripe that we were too whistle-happy in this league. We're all trying to find a solution," Holland said.

The first technical was called on Sampson for protesting after he was called for swinging his elbows while grabbing a rebound. He was hit with a second technical when he slammed the ball to the floor.

The outburst was triggered by an incident at the other end of the court moments earlier, when Sampson became pinned between three Terrapins and lost his balance. As he fell to the floor, he was elbowed by Maryland's Mark Fothergill. No foul was called.

"The only reason I was upset Saturday was that we had the best possible officiating crew and we still had an incident. It's a very difficult situation, and something to be concerned about," Holland said.

"Ralph hasn't shown himself to be a temperamental person. He's managed to keep his composure, for the most part under unbelievable circumstances. When he reacts, it says there's something wrong," Holland said.

Martin steps in for round 3, signs again with New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin was named manager of the New York Yankees for the third time today, owner George Steinbrenner announced.

Entering a new era for the third time," Steinbrenner said in making the announcement at a news conference.

Steinbrenner said Martin had been given a multi-contract and would begin managing the club in the 1983 season, succeeding Clyde King.

King, who replaced Gene Michael last Aug. 3, moved into the Yankee front office as an adviser to Steinbrenner.

Martin is the eighth managerial job for Martin since 1954 and the 10th change of leadership for the Yankees. Steinbrenner bought the club 10 years ago.

Martin, a star second baseman with the Yankees in the 1950s, first managed the team from 1975 to 1978, when he resigned under pressure after being accused of Steinbrenner and outfielder Reggie Smith.

"They deserve each other. One's a born leader, the other's convicted."

The reference was to Steinbrenner's conviction on a campaign-finance charge during the Nixon administration.

He returned as manager in 1979 but was fired by the Yankees following that season, a short time after a fight with a marshallman salesman in a hotel in Bloomington, Minn.

For the last three seasons, Martin managed the A's, taking them to the AL playoffs in 1981 with a blend of speed and pitching that became known as "Billy Ball." But the A's slumped last season, finishing fifth in the American League West, 25 games behind division-winning California, and Martin was dismissed.

Martin also managed the Detroit Tigers, Minnesota Twins and Texas Rangers, winning divisional championships with the Tigers and the Twins.

Martin is the fourth man to manage the same major league team three different times.

Martin had spent the last three years as manager of the Oakland A's, a job he got after Steinbrenner fired him in October 1979.

N.Y. Yanks will open in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The Yankees are as much a part of New York as Central Park and the Statue of Liberty, and therefore may not play their home-opening series in Denver, a State Supreme Court judge has ruled.

"Taking major league baseball on tour is an idea whose time has not yet come," Justice Richard S. Lane said Monday while issuing his ruling against the move.

Jazz catch fire; beat Kings

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Rick Green scored 13 of his season-high 27 points in the final quarter to spark the Utah Jazz to a 106-98 victory over the Kansas City Kings in NBA play here Tuesday night.

Ben Poquette scored 24 points and Darrell Griffith 23 as the Jazz improved its Midwest Division record to 15-23, while the Kings fell to 20-13 in the same division.

Steve Johnson led Kansas City with 27 points before being ejected from the game with five minutes remaining.

Johnson and Utah's Danny Schayes got into a scuffle and both players were thrown out of the game.

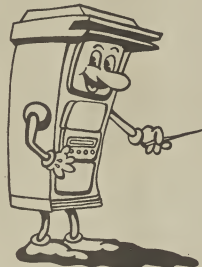

Eddie Johnson added 19 for the Jazz and Mike Woodson 15.

The fourth quarter started with Kansas City on top 76-75, but Utah quickly took the lead and was ahead 91-87.

Reds pick 1st

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds had the pick in both phases of major league baseball's annual winter free agent draft.

The Cincinnati Reds got the first choice in regular phase by posting the worst record in the National League last season. The Reds got the opening pick in the secondary phase in a draw conducted by the presidents Chub Feeney and Lee Macphail.

The regular phase is made up of junior college seniors, players who are withdrawing from four-colleges and January high school graduates. The secondary phase players are those who were drafted previously but did not sign.

Following the Reds in the regular section are the Minnesota Twins, New York Mets, Texas, the Chicago Cubs and the rest of teams as they rotate by in reverse order of last year's won-lost record and will be followed by the Mets, Milwaukee Brewers and the Cubs.

Choose the right.

The right summer job.

Eagle Systems has some excellent summer jobs available for Summer '83. The earnings are excellent.* The side benefits are even better.**

We'd like to present a complete job description and answer your questions this evening. Join us for a brief, get-acquainted meeting at 7 pm sharp. We're at 5600 North University (near the mouth of Provo Canyon).

Now, a word of caution: You'll be seeing a lot of summer sales job offers in this newspaper during the next few weeks. When you start comparing job offers, remember:

Wrong: Right:

Are you comfortable working for a company that's been in business a year or so? (Many of the companies who recruited at BYU just last year are already out of business.)

Will they be around to write your last paycheck?

Training? Naa... Just hit the streets and get to work.

Satisfaction?

Can they really guarantee you anything about your summer income? Or is their sales pitch just a lot of hot air? Three to 18 months in business doesn't prove much. 90% of all new businesses fail within the first five years.

Eagle Systems and affiliates have been in business over 20 years. We're very stable. Definitely here to stay.

*We'll be around to write all your checks. We've been writing rather fat checks for years. And we will again this year. And next. And the year after that.

**We'll train you to do the job right, successfully, and enjoyably. At our expense, you'll attend a week-long, professional training seminar. It's taught by some of the nation's best job training professionals.

A high level of job satisfaction comes from being involved with products that can improve lives.

Our 9 year summer track record proves what your income can be. Our top first-year sales people earned $15,000 last summer. Our top second-year salesmen earned $23,000 in 15 weeks.

We'd like to tell you about the job and answer your questions. Join us tonight at 7 pm. 5600 North University (at the mouth of Provo Canyon).

Just facts, nice people, and refreshments.

Eagle Systems International

*For earnings information, see the "$5,000 COUPON" in today's paper.
**But believe it or not, the money isn't the best thing about this job. See "Our summer job..." ad also in today's paper.

We have a summer job for you. Let's talk about it this evening.

You can earn a lot of money. A lot!

But there's something about this job that's far more important than the high income.

Career training. On the job. And before the job — by powerful men like Stephen R. Covey, Charlie "Tremendous" Jones, Earl Nightingale, Zig Ziglar. These aren't Mickey Mouse 20-minute pep talks. We're talking about a week-long professional seminar. Taught by the nation's leading job trainers. Free. As part of your job training.

In short, a job with Eagle is the best hands-on accredited internship you'll ever find. One that complements any major.

It's made our people consistent top choices by the nation's prime corporate recruiters for the past eight years.

Remember, darn few summer people earn more than ours.

But more important, we'll give you leadership, communication, management, persuasion, and goal-setting skills that will open doors the rest of your life. Regardless of your career area.

We have the proof, and we'd like you to see it. Join us for a 45-minute, get-acquainted meeting tonight, 7 p.m. sharp. At 5600 North University Avenue (near the mouth of Provo Canyon).

This classical brass is a 'classical gas'

Frederic Mills, trumpet, Eugene Watts, trombone, Charles Daellenbach, tuba, Graeme Page, french horn, and Ronald Romm, trumpet, make up The Canadian Brass. The group, sometimes called "The Marx Brothers of Brass," will perform at BYU on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the de Jong Concert Hall HFAC. According to Ken Crossley, BYU concert and promotion manager, the group is in such demand it had to be scheduled at least two years in advance.

Y pianist to play at Midday

Music at Midday will open the new year with a piano performance by Gretchen Hoopes at 12:10 p.m. today in the Madsen Recital Hall HFAC. Hoopes, a graduate student from Torrance, Calif., majoring in piano performance, will perform "Sonata pour piano" by Igor Stravinsky and "Fantasie in C Major," by Franz Peter Schubert.

Music at Midday is sponsored by the Department of Music and is coordinated by Jacob Bos, an instructor of music.

Hoopes received her bachelor's degree from the University of California in Redlands. She teaches two piano classes at BYU and was the official accompanist for the BYU A Capella Choir on its 1982 summer tour of Israel.

Hoopes will perform again in a graduate recital at the end of January.

Music at Midday will feature performances by students, graduate students or faculty members each Wednesday at 12:10 p.m. and as scheduled on Mondays. The performances are open to the public.

Y professor to present classical vocal recital

By JULIE STIBRAL
Senior Reporter

BYU Music Department faculty member Ray Arbizu's idea of what singing should be changed when he heard classical music in his youth.

Arbizu said his change from pop music to classical music brought him appearances with the American National Opera Company and the Boston Opera Company.

Arbizu will perform in a faculty tenor vocal recital today at 8 p.m. in the Madsen Recital Hall HFAC. He will be accompanied on the piano by Marlene Bachelder.

Fighting a bout with the flu, Arbizu said he will not have the music memorized for tonight's performance. "I don't think it will alter the performance or make it less effective."

"I ordinarily wouldn't use the music, but I'm in no condition for singing anything from memory. I still know what I'm singing and know what I'm doing," he said.

"This recital is a major undertaking. Some of the songs are very difficult to sing. Usually someone of my age doesn't undertake something like this," he said.

Arbizu began his singing career at the age of 17. He later turned to classics when he heard music by Enrico Caruso. "His music changed my whole idea about what singing should be," he said.

In Hollywood, Arbizu sang the music for the background in the Orson Welles radio show "War of the Worlds" at the age of 25. He has also sung for various recordings at Columbia Studios.

He said he has performed in numerous faculty recitals at BYU during his 12 years of teaching.

Arbizu said he recently returned from Anchorage, Alaska, where he appeared in the production of "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Other guest appearances are in the making for this semester, but Arbizu said it was too early to release who has contacted him for performances.

In March, he performed in the Salt Lake Opera Company's "Il Talbarro." He has also performed with the Utah Symphony and the Utah Opera Company.

After receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees at Arizona State University, Arbizu was awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to study in Vienna.

In Germany, he was leading tenor with the Bonn and Essen Opera Companies and sang in various German opera houses as a guest artist.

Before joining the BYU music faculty, Arbizu said, he made several appearances with the Boston Opera Company and was leading tenor for the American National Opera Company.

In tonight's performance, he will perform songs by Schubert, Brahms and Strauss. He will also sing Roger Quilter's "Weep You No More," Liza Lehmann's "Moon of My Delight" and Robert MacGinsey's "Sweet Little Jesus Boy."

Admission to the recital is free.

Rock group Toto dominates Grammy Awards

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Los Angeles rock group Toto dominated the nominations for the 25th annual Grammy awards today, garnering nine nominations for the band and its members.

Other major nominees for the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences' silver anniversary awards included Stevie Wonder, with eight nominations; Paul McCartney, ex-Steely Dan member Donald Fagen, and film score composer-conductor John Williams, with five each; and John Cougar and Willie Nelson, with four apiece.

Toto recordings appeared in three of the four major categories. The album "Toto IV" was nominated album of the year, while the hit track "Rosanna" earned both record and song of the year nominations.

The group also was nominated for the best group pop performance, best instrumental arrangement for vocals, best vocal arrangement, best engineered recording, and producer of the year. Toto member Steve Lukather earned a nomination as co-writer of "Turn Your Love Around" in the best rhythm-and-blues song category.

Wonder is eligible for eight of the 62 Grammys, three of them for his duet with Paul McCartney, "Ebony & Ivory," which was nominated for record of the year, song of the year and best group performance.

Another Wonder-McCartney duet, "What's That You're Doing," was nominated for best group rhythm-and-blues performance. Wonder's solo "Do I Do" won nominations for best-rhythm-and-blues male vocal, best instrumental arrangement accompanying vocals and best-rhythm-and-blues song.

Wonder's song, "That Girl," also was nominated as best rhythm and blues song.

Winners will be announced Feb. 23 in a gala 25th anniversary telecast on CBS.
